DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Farrell (US 5,143,433) in view of Turnbull et al (US 5,803,579).

Regarding claim 1, Farrell ('433) discloses a night vision backlighting system having self-luminous sources 18 in primary colors being mixed to produce white light (column 6, lines 9-20), a light conducting plate 20 and column 5, lines 12-30 teaches that the primary colors being illuminated sequentially at different timing for each color thereby achieving time division light emission.

Regarding claim 2, Farrell teaches in column 7, lines 10-12 that the light source can be a light emitting diode.

Regarding claim 3, Farrell shows in figure 3 that the sources 18 are a fluorescent body 54 that generates light to the light scattering plate 24 (column 4, lines 59-63).

Regarding claim 4, Farrell shows in figure 3 that fluorescent body 54 has a phosphor layer 56.

Regarding claim 1, Farrell does not disclose the light emitting device illuminating sequentially at different timings for each color.

Regarding claim 1, Turnbull et al ('579) discloses a illuminator assembly having a red, green, and blue light emitting diodes 14 or 16. Column 21, lines teaches that two light emitting diodes can individually connected to an electronic device 22 to illuminate white light.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine the backlighting system of Farrell with the illuminator assembly of Turnbull et al in order to provide a means of illuminating a portable device providing white light to the device as taught by Turnbull et al (column 1, lines 5-10).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments, see page 2, filed March 18, 2005, with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) 1-4 under U.S.C. 102 (b) have been fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, a new ground(s) of rejection is made in view of Farrell in view of Turnbull et al as cited above.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
